Customer Service Training

Provides training that accommodates all types of learners to gain competitive skills in customer service.

Overview:

Individual may not possess the skills necessary to secure employment in customer service related fields.

Customer Service Training is designed to be an introduction to the world of work and how to provide good customer service, not only to customers but also to coworkers, supervisors and people encountered in the community on behalf of the employer. This training includes standard workplace regulations regarding harassment, conduct and other topics, as well as, incorporates suggestions from our partner employers as to the characteristics of a solid employee. This training offers great insight into the little things we can do to make work a great place to be and is helpful when individuals are learning soft skills.
