From the time I joined our team, you and I have been working tirelessly to help those in need. El Paso County's population grew by over 13,000 people from 2015 to 2016, and many of the community's pain points can be exacerbated by the high number of new issues here. Although we have made significant progress in providing care, there are still many challenges we face daily.

Providing care to our community in difficult times is what we do best, and our clinicians continued to make a difference in the lives of those we serve. In addition to the full continuum of behavioral health care services (mental health and substance misuse care) AspenPointe provides to our community’s patients, our team has worked hard to improve access to care and expand our services.

Speaking of rural communities, this year we tripled our staff numbers in Park and Teller counties and our AspenPointe Woodmen and Jet Wing, slated to officially open in Fiscal Year 2017-18, will provide much-needed services in historically underserved areas of Colorado Springs: North and Southeast. AspenPointe Woodmen and Jet Wing, as well as our Established Aspen, are creating a system of care that will deliver whole-person care.

In addition to our clinical services, we also transitioned to a new Electronic Health Record system, which has significantly improved our ability to provide quality care and manage our patients’ medical records. The new system allows our clinicians to communicate more effectively with each other and our patients, improving the overall patient experience.

I cannot thank you enough for partnering with AspenPointe as we provide hope and healing to our community, one patient at a time. Thank you for your unwavering commitment to providing exceptional care to those in need. Together, we can make a positive difference in the lives of those we serve.
To improve our programs and services, AspenPointe works through a comprehensive planning process designed to meet the needs of our community and stakeholders. We have appreciated the input and support we have received from the AspenPointe Community Council and stakeholders. The Community Council provides valuable insights into how we can better meet the needs of our patients and community.

In 2016-17, we had many accomplishments. The atmosphere for the Board of Directors was set in place with new leadership this year. Furthermore, our Mental Health First Aid training in partnership with the Woodmenlife Foundation and the University of ColoradoColorado Springs will be available for schools and provide suicide prevention and awareness help to parents, students and community members. The Zero Suicide enabling our entire organization to identify and address mental health concerns in these areas and also allow us to relocate administrative roles from other sites such as our Lehman facility in Pueblo.

AspenPointe Jet Wing, slated to officially open in Fiscal Year 2017-18, will provide much-needed services in historically underserved areas of Colorado Springs: North and Southeast. AspenPointe Woodmen and Boulevard will house our contact center in addition to a full continuum of mental health and substance misuse treatment to fulfill their education goals, prepare for employment, and achieve self-sufficiency.

We also launched a new business model and recruitment plan in 2016-17 that will help us align our services with the most vulnerable, I am also proud that AspenPointe has shown acute awareness to the rising evidence-based substance misuse program.  Zero Suicide enables our entire organization to identify and address mental health concerns in these areas and also allow us to relocate administrative roles from other sites such as our Lehman facility in Pueblo.

We also launched a new business model and recruitment plan in 2016-17 that will help us align our services with the most vulnerable. This year, we will continue to work with our providers to increase the number of patients served in our inpatient, outpatient, and community programs.

The center of our organization is driven by our patients' needs and the steps we can take to meet them. Every service we offer revolves around what's best for our patients person holistically.

The multi-faceted and coordinated aspects of health care that are needed to treat every type of patient are all surrounded by the types of patients we see: children, adults and families. They are all surrounded by challenges that need to be addressed.

Spinners became ubiquitous this past year, we noticed how this therapeutic device was used for patients with anxiety and attention difficulties. For instance, by helping patients regulate the intensity of their own anxiety, make it possible for them to feel better and achieve their goals. These are some of the steps we are taking to improve the quality of care we deliver.

As a result, we are proud to report our Internal Medicine program saw a significant increase in the number of patients seen over the past year. Additionally, our Substance Abuse program has seen an increase in the number of patients seen and referred to our program.

We are proud of our accomplishments this past year, we know there is more we can do to improve the quality of care we deliver. We are committed to providing the highest quality care possible to our patients, and we thank you for your continued support.
